Data Curation Workshop 2015

Monday, January 12: Faculty, Graduate Students and Research Staff

Tuesday, January 13: Librarians and Library Staff

9:00 am – 5:00 pm

Emory University Woodruff Library

This one-day workshop led by instructors from the ICPSR and the Emory Center for Digital Scholarship will teach participants practical strategies for data curation and management -- how to plan for, review, assess, and clean data, including confidential and restricted data. Participants will leave with knowledge about archiving data to comply with federal funding agency mandates and requirements from journals and publishers.
