Reading the Mind of Modernism

Dr. Ross will discuss and demonstrate the Linked Modernisms project, which aims to let us read the mind of global modernism by creating an 'n-dimensional' interface for exploring modernism. Users can move among entities of varying types (people, artifacts, techniques, events, places) from anywhere in the world and in any discipline. It lets us map relationships among entities and discover un-guessed-at connections. Attendees will be invited to begin formulating their own queries in a hands-on finale.
